RIVERSIDE, Calif. – The Mission Inn Hotel & Spa in Riverside, California, today announced that the success of Kelly's Spa has propelled the hotel to add 1,000-square-feet to the popular spa. The Tuscan-inspired spa is adding two massage rooms, two rooms for therapeutic baths and a women's only relaxation room.

“Only a little more than a year after opening Kelly's Spa, its success demanded we expand,” said Kelly Roberts, owner of the Mission Inn Hotel & Spa and Kelly's Spa. “We are responding to the needs of our guests by adding a spacious women's only relaxation room as well as more rooms for massage and therapeutic baths. We're thrilled that both hotel guests and local residents have responded so positively to the residential feel, luxurious touches and quality treatments that Kelly's Spa offers!”

The lavish newly expanded 7,000-square-foot spa features 12 treatment rooms, including two beautifully appointed private villas that can be used for couples, brides-to-be, and groups of friends, as well as two rooms specifically for therapeutic baths, a nail salon, a communal relaxation room and a women's only relaxation room.

Kelly's Spa has an intimate feel that offers guests an escape from the stresses of the outside world. Inspired by the villas of Tuscany, the Italian-themed spa features archways and domed and barrel-vaulted ceilings, all glowing in rich, warm double and triple gold tones of Venetian plaster.
